& TROPICAL MEDICINE

Post Description: CGCC Student Liaison Officers (MSc Student)

Centre Background:

We are a group of multidisciplinary researchers seeking to improve understanding of and responses to chronic conditions in low, middle and high-income country settings through research, policy and public engagement and teaching.

Our Vision is to improve understanding of and responses to chronic conditions in order to improve the health and health equity of people worldwide.

Our strategic aims

- To promote research excellence and methodological innovation.
- To facilitate collaboration within and beyond the School.
- To promote the visibility of the School's work on chronic conditions in the public and political domains and support policy and public engagement for action.

You can find out more about our work at: <https://www.lshtm.ac.uk/research/centres/centre-global-chronic-conditions>

Why become an SLO?

- Enhanced access and networking opportunities within all levels of LSHTM.
- Build on skill sets which will improve employability.
- In-depth understanding of topic area outside of the curriculum.
- Shape outputs within the Centre to the student body, wider School community and external audiences.

Key responsibilities:

- Coordination and Communications (Social Media) Support
  - Connect and coordinate the MSc student body with CGCC. The SLOs will set up and maintain communications to connect MSc students interested in CGCC with each other.
  - Collaborate for action – the SLOs will work together with the CGCC Senior Leadership Team and communications officer to establish priorities for activities and events relating to global chronic conditions.
  - Produce materials – the SLOs work alongside Centre Communications Officer to prepare materials such as newsletter content and website blogs, profiling the interests and perspectives of the LSHTM student body.
  - Cross-Centre ecosystem – when relevant, work with other Centres on student-based projects whether this is events or communications.
