Programme Description	The DrPH is a doctoral level qualification intended for leaders and future leaders in public health. It consists of 3 elements.  Element 1 , the Taught Course component , consists of two compulsory modules, taught in term 1. Evidence Based Public

	Health Policy &amp; Practice, and Understanding Leadership, Management &amp; Organisation. Assessment of each is based on graded written assignments. Element 2, Research Study I, organisational and/or policy analysis (OPA) This gives the opportunity to observe closely the workings of a public health organisation or a policy community, and from this develop a better understanding of how to design and develop effective public health organisations and/or shape public health policy. The OPA usually involves 3–6 months’ fieldwork observing and analysing operations at a host organisation or using the host organisation as a base from which to explore the dynamics of a number of organisations involved in shaping policy on a particular aspect of public health. It is assessed on the basis of a written report not exceeding 15,000 words. The OPA is assessed internally to ensure that it is of a sufficiently high standard to be formally assessed with Research Study 2 (thesis) at an oral (viva) examination. Element 3, Research Study II: a piece of research on any subject related to public health (thesis) The purpose is to learn about the role of research in public health practice by undertaking a piece of high-quality public health-relevant research. Before commencing the research there is a DrPH Review, with a written report (7,500 words), a seminar and an assessment panel. This provides feedback to improve the research, and identifies any students who may choose to, or be better suited to, exit with a Postgraduate Certificate (Taught Modules) or Postgraduate Diploma (Taught Modules plus RSI). The thesis topic can be from any discipline or subject area and the research must be original and make a distinct contribution to the knowledge of your chosen subject. You can choose to relate it to your OPA or not. The thesis has a 60,000 word limit. The research thesis and OPA are formally examined together at an oral examination (viva). Elements 2 and 3, Research Studies I and II, are undertaken after the submission of the assessed assignments for Element 1. They cannot be formally assessed until Element 1 has been successfully passed.

4. Entry Requirements

Criteria for admission

Applicants for DrPH study should have at least one of the following:

- an upper second-class Honours degree of a UK university, or an overseas qualification of an equivalent standard, in a subject appropriate to that of the course of study to be followed; or
- a registrable qualification appropriate to the course of study to be followed, in medicine, dentistry or veterinary studies; or
- a Masters degree in a subject appropriate to the course of study to be followed; or
- a professional qualification obtained by written examination and approved by the University of London as an appropriate entrance qualification for the degree in question.
- In addition, the DrPH Programme requires applicants to have experience of leadership and management and experience of work in the public health field.

Note that these are minimum entry requirements, and possession of these does not guarantee a place.

English language entry requirements

Band B – It is essential to have an excellent command of the English language to benefit from studying for the programme. All students will be required to obtain an acceptable score in an approved English language test if their first language is not English or if their studies at university have not been conducted wholly in the medium of English. Any English language tests must have been taken no more than two years before the date a student commences the programme. LSHTM may also request that an applicant take a test even if the above conditions have been met. For up to date information on language requirements, please see:
